'U. S. Carrier Stirs New Kennedy Sets Cuban Invasion Charge High Ideals

Navy Accused Of Mining Bay At Guantanamo

HAVANA (AP)-The U. S. aircraft carrier Franklin D. Roosevelt sailed into Guantanamo Bay Monday, setting off new Cuban charges of imminent invasion from the north. A high official said all Cuba is under the equivalent of martial law.

The semiofficial newspaper Revolucion accused the United States of mining Guantanamo Bay, site of the big U. S. base in eastern Cuba. It said also that large quantities of medicine were being unloaded at the base.

Despite denials from U. S. officials at Guantanamo-last U.S. foothold in Cuba-of any aggressive intent, Prime Minister Fidel Castro's radios and newspapers kept up the invasion warnings of the past 10 days.

Long Planned, U.S. Says

Revolucion said the carrier Roosevelt would be incorporated with various destroyers into a combat unit to be stationed in the area. The U.S. Navy said the carrier was just there on a refresher training mission long planned.

Cuba stepped up its defense preparations against what Revolucion called the threat of "aggression by Yankee imperialism."

Army regulars marched into position along the waterfront and set up tents between the National and Cuba's memorial to the battleship Maine. The highway along traffic snarls along streets in the waterfront area.

President-Elect Pledges Integrity And Independence

BOSTON (AP) - Presidentelect John F. Kennedy, cheered by the lawmakers of his home state, promised Monday night his administration will be mortgaged to no group-economic, racial or even political.

In his first formal speech since his election, Kennedy gave a special joint session of the Massachusetts Legislature a brief but solemn pledge of high purpose: "Of those to whom much is given, much is required."

His warmly received talk climaxed a homecoming day blended of nostalgia and work. Midway in it he and President Eisenhower simultaneously announced they will meet once more-Jan. 19just a day before Kennedy becomes president.

Top officials of both administrations will take part.

Kennedy received an ovation as he entered the Massachusetts House chamber, packed to its ornate walls with the 277 representatives and senators and a cluster De Gaulle Gets of state officials.

State Battles To Preserve Segregation

Four-Step Plan Readied To Thwart Entry Of Negroes

ATLANTA (AP) - The University of Georgia will be closed in the morning with its operating funds cut off, the Associated Press learned Monday night.

An unimpeachable source said Gov. Ernest Vandiver and other state leaders would announce later Monday night a four-step plan in the attempt to preserve segregation at the university, where two Negro students have been ordered admitted.

Under this plan, the university would be closed Tuesday morning. Students at the school would be given a holiday for the rest of the week. The legislature would be asked to repeal the section of the 1956 Appropriations Act which forbids expenditures at schools ordered integrated. And, Atty. Gen. Eugene Cook will fly to Washington Tuesday to ask Associate Justice Hugo L. Black of the U.S. Supreme Court to overrule Judge Elbert Tuttle of the 5th District Court of Appeals in Atlanta.

Tuttle had reversed a lower court which had granted the state a stay in the order for immediate admittance of the two Negroes.

Vandiver and other high state officials huddled in the Governor's Mansion late Monday night.

Busy mother of three finds telephone gives 21 extra hours in two weeks...saves $1738 and 200 miles of traveling

Mrs. H. Richard Duden of Annapolis recently kept a two-week record of all her family's telephone calls. For each call she also estimated any expense, time and traveling that were saved by being able to telephone.

At the end of two weeks, her tally showed that the telephone had given them almost a full day of extra time, and had saved far more in traveling expenses than the cost of their telephone service.

Whether it was a call to summon a washer repairman or rounding up the youngsters, the phone made busy days easier.

Mrs. Duden found, too, that some calls provide pleasure and peace of mind that can't be measured in time or money saved. For instance, her husband who is an insurance representative and football coach, had to make a business trip to Florida. His Long Distance call to the family went into a "special" category of her telephone diary.

Perhaps you might like to keep a diary to see what your telephone does. We think you'd find, too, that your telephone saves much more in time, trouble and expense -than the cost of having it.

"More life insurance? ...you're kidding!"

"How can I afford it?" you ask. Until now you probably couldn't. That's why we at Nationwide recently streamlined our entire life insurance portfolio. Today you can buy more and pay less for the protection you need. Here's how:

1. We now offer "quantity discount" rates. Buy more than $4,000 of Nationwide life insurance and your cost per thousand dollars is reduced.

2. We've streamlined our dividend structure. (This also helps lower your premium.) And you now earn cash values sooner than usual.

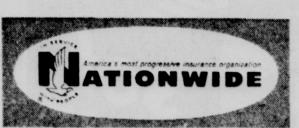

3. There's a plan for every need and budget. Example: Our MODIFIED 3 TO 10 PLAN gives sharply reduced premiums to young fathers during the first ten "getting started" years. Our FAMILY POLICY insures the entire family in one plan, and can include an income feature that could pay your family 3 times its face amount should you die during the plan's first 5 years.

In addition, you can even insure your insurabilitya new option guarantees you the right to buy additional coverage later, regardless of your health.

See for yourself why Nationwide's plans are among the best values of their kind anywhere. See your local Nationwide agent...or contact nearest office below.

Most other businesses try to separate you and your money. They persuade you to buy, to spend, to part with your hard-earned cash. But First Federal wants you and your money to stick together. If you want your money close to you, ready when needed, safe and hard-working, keep it in a First Federal savings account.

The other facts that prove we're for "togetherness" are in this statement. Know a better way of keeping families together than financing homes? Institutions such as ours are the nation's number one source of home funds . . . finance 41% of all homes built today! We're for togetherness of Cumberland, too, having loaned $4,452,935.87 to build, buy or refinance homes in the Cumberland area.

What better way to keep a financial institution strong than providing reserves above the legal limit? To share our togetherness completely with you, we're a mutual institution with no stockholders to compensate before the profit goes to you, the saver.

Save here soon. You and your money belong together.

Is The Consumer Really Growing Up?

Since the end of World War II America has been a very prosperous nation. Oddly, this prosperity is now making it difficult for industry to keep on producing at the rate that is behind the prosperity.

The American consumer is growing up; he (or she) has matured considerably in the last 15 years. This is the conclusion Business Week magazine comes to as a result of a sort of public pulse-taking. It views this maturity as a challenge to industry - the biggest challenge industry has ever faced.

The American consumer, it seems, now knows what he wants. He is able to see that there are things which properly come ahead of material possessions. He wants service on what he buys and he wants quality. And above all, he is more concerned with expressing his own individuality (especially to himself) than with keeping up with the Joneses.

And when he does buy, he knows much better what he is looking for than he did 15

What does all this portend? Among other things, it may mean that there will be fewer suburban developments of street after street of identical houses that have done much to give Suburbia a bad name. The home buyer will be looking for something more distinctive.

It may mean that the hard sell is on the way out. When an advertiser is convinced that his advertising isn't bringing in the customers. he'll cut out that line and try another. The evidence is mounting that American consumers are looking harder and harder at advertising products-and not believing the claims that are being made for some of them.

The challenge to industry of all this is to grow up right along with the consumer. If industry can provide maturity and responsibility, it will have no trouble in the years ahead.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

The Castro Mistake

In charge of our Cuban affairs in the State Department was until recently William A. Wieland who has been identified as the Arthur William Montenegro for whom I have been looking in the record. This was not announced by the State Department which has full responsibility in the matter, but the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee has been studying the question of Wieland's conduct and purposes.

There are three men who have the name Montenegro and this produces some confusion. Therefore, it is necessary to say that the Arthur William Montenegro who is being discussed is William Wieland and that he comes by both names quite properly; the Wieland name being his at birth, the Montenegro name coming later when his mother married a second husband by that name.

So we need not get too excited about the use of two names, but we are justified in wondering why this man was entrusted with our Cuban affairs and if the Senate Committee does the job thoroughly, we may find out how men are recruited into the State Department and how they are promoted. We may discover what are the qualifications for being a deskman who can by the flick of a ballpoint pen get the United States into the mess which is now our Cuban situation.

The same thing happened with regard to Communist China in the years 1945, 1946 and 1947 when Alger Hiss and Owen Lattimore and the Institute of Pacific Relations were manufacturing American policy which lost us a continent and gained for us our most pernicious enemy. It might have been otherwise, had the policy of our government not been influenced so positively by men whose interest was to support Soviet Russia rather than the United States, although they were American citizens. It took a long time for Americans to overcome the false propaganda let loose in this country that these Communists were only agrarian reformers.

Dean Rusk, who is to be Secretary of State in the Kennedy Administration, speaking on May 18, 1951.

"It is not my purpose, in these few moments this evening, to go into specific elements of our own national policy in the present situation. But we can tell our friends in China that the United States will not acquiesce in the degradation which is being forced upon them. We do not recognize the authorities in Peiping for what they pretend to be. The Peiping regime may be a colonial Russian government-a Slavic Manchukuo on a larger scale. It is not the Government of China. It does not pass the first test. It is not Chinese.

This is true but it took too many years to be said officially and when it was said the mischief had already been done. Similarly, in the Cuban situation, we have come to realize that we have taken more than we can bear, but why did we need to take it at all? Was it because William Wieland was calling the turns? Was it because Roy Rubottom was diffident? Was it because the Fifth Floor of the State Department, where the great men sit, never knows what goes on in that sprawling building until it is too late to do anything but make ready for war or appeasement?

The Senate Internal Security Subcommittee ought to examine this situation to discover not an individual whose judgment was bad or whose conduct was vicious. but a pattern of operations which makes it possible for incompetent and indecent persons to become associated with the State Department and to rise to positions where they can commit the United States to a policy. The Cuban situation ought to be studied from the standpoint that it is an altogether unnecessary advantage for Soviet Russia which might have been averted had the control of American policy been where it should be under our Constitution, in the hands of the President of the United States, not of a deskman in the AUTOMATION - Somebody always seems to be worrying about how you are going to keep enough farmers down on the farm to produce the rapidly increasing food needs of the nation, but apparently something always comes along to save the situation.

After World War I they sang, "How You Gonna Keep 'Em Down on the Farm, After They've Seen Gay Paree?" and the latest refrain along this line has to do with how agriculture can be made attractive enough in this era of automation to retain a sufficient

EX-PRESIDENTS - For the first time in many years, the United States will have three living former presidents on January 20, when John F. Kennedy is sworn in as chief executive.

They, of course, will be Dwight D. Eisenhower, Harry S. Truman, and Herbert Hoover. This is somewhat unusual, but not unprecedented in the history of the United In the early days of the repub-

The Kennedy administration is not likely to alter the policy initiated last week by President Eisenhower. By withdrawing recognition of the Castro government. the United States has served notice on all other governments of the world, particularly on those in this hemisphere, that it does not look with favor on any continued support of the Castro re-

It is significant that Earl T. Smith, former United States ambassador to Cuba and an intimate friend of President-elect Kennedy. has just publicly characterized the break in diplomatic relations with Cuba as "a constructive step" and one that could "go a long way in vindicating the Monroe Doctrine.

But the action is not merely the assertion by this country of its opposition to Communist meddling in Cuba. It is a reaffirmation of the principle that a government which fails to discharge its obligations under international lawprotecting the lives and property of foreigners-is not entitled to diplomatic recognition. It isn't just a matter of what territory a dictatorship controls, but whether it honors international law. The Peiping regime, for instance, controls all of mainland China, just as Castro controls all of Cuba, but has been guilty of aggression in Korea. The case is even stronger for a break in diplomatic relations with the Moscow government, which has not only violated international law repeatedly but has established by force a new "colonialism" among the nations of Eastern Europe. Some da. American patience may reach the limit in relations with the Communists. It's important for the Soviets to understand that there really is a limit-and that the American people will never favor "peace at any price."

Heart attacks, for example, are five to six times more common in men with involvement of the arota, the large vessel that carries purified blood from the heart to the rest of the body. The first two branches of this passageway are the coronary arteries that supply the heart muscle with blood. Blockage of these branches is the most common cause of a heart attack. Here are some of them:

UNFORGOTTEN EVENT NO. 1-Romance with Governor Shivers-After Gov. Allen Shivers of Texas knifed Adlai Stevenson in 1952. Speaker Sam Rayburn vowed never to trust him again, refused to make peace with Shivers at a Texas breakfast arranged by Johnson to bring Shivers back into the good graces of Texas Congressmen.

In secret meeting after meeting Johnson romanced the Dixiecrat governor, proposed all sorts of compromises. Mr. Sam meanwhile kept alooi. In the end, Shivers kicked Johnson in the political teeth, bucked the Democrats again in 1956, raised money for Nixon, and tried to defeat both Kennedy and Johnson in 1960. Sam Rayburn was right, but he couldn't make his protege

UNFORGOTTEN EVENT NO. 2-Sen. Joe McCarthy-On January 1, 1953 a special Senate investigating committee headed by Sen. Carl Hayden of Arizona and Tom Hennings of Missouri brought in a shocking report on Joe Mc-Carthy. They photostated amazing bank accounts and deposit slips showing how McCarthy had collected thousands of dollars supposedly to fight Communism, used the money to speculate in the commodity market for his own personal gain

It was one of the most devastating and conclusive reports ever made on a U.S. Senator.

Accordingly, some Senators, including Margaret Chase Smith of Maine, Flanders of Vermont, Fulbright of Arkansas. Ives of New Hennings and Hayden, wanted to ask McCarthy to stand aside and not take his Senate seat until all Senators had studied the record. They tried to get support from their new Senate leader, Lyndon Johnson. But their new Senate leader ran like a scared rabbit

For two whole years Lyndon waited-during which McCarthy crucified people inside and outside government, during which he set the U.S. missile program back for months by scaring key scientists out of government. Finally after Joe stubbed his toe in the Army-McCarthy hearings and had lost popularity, Johnson moved in. By that time it was out to help them. His former assistant, John Connally, currently nominated to be Secretary of the Navy, was chief lobbyist for the oil-gas companies. With Johnson's powerful pushing, Connally did a masterful job. The gas bill passed.

But Elmer Patman, lobbyist for Superior Oil, with whom Connally worked, financed a $2,500 bribe offer to Sen. Francis Case of South Dakota. When Case revealed the offer on the Senate floor. Connally sat white-faced in his hotel room in the Mayflower all day. Though he masterminded the lobby, he was never called as a witness in the investigation of the gas lobby that followed. Lyndon abruptly removed the investigation from anti-gas Senators Hennings (Mo.) and Gore (Tenn.). placed it in the hands of Arkansas' McClellan whose law firm in Little Rock then represented Standard Oil of N. The Hip & The Slobs

By John Crosby

There's only one thing wrong with the new Phil Silvers musical comedy "Do Re Mi." It isn't any good. But apart from that After all, it's got lyrics by Adolph It's awful

Green and Betty Comden. It's got a score by Jules Styne. It's got a book by Garson Kanin who directed it. It's got Mr. Silvers and Nancy Walker. It's had tons of money spent on it by David Merrick. And in addition to all that, you want it to be good, too? Whaddayou - a Communist or I saw "Do Re Mi" about a week after it opened and the audience was a mixture of the hip crowd, who call Julie and Betty and Adolph by their first names, and the slobs. The hip crowd wandered around with bright smiles on their faces saying, "Isn't this fun?" with varying degrees of success. The slobs-guys who simply spent $8.60 and expected something in return-looked stunned. My companion encountered a shipboard friend, a lady from New Jersey, a representative of the populace, those fools: "Isn't this awful?" she whispered. But I noticed she whispered. The populace has been thoroughly cowed in regard to shooting off its mouth about Broadway shows. Not so cowed, though, that many of them didn't rush up the aisles and tumble down from the balcony to get out of the theater even before the curtain went down

Now, there are two kinds of musicals. There are the serious Rodgers and Hammerstein musicals with lovely music, story, and characterization but without a laugh in them. Then there's the old-fashioned rowdy kind with only rudimentary efforts at character and story but lots of laughs. This is the second kind except it has practically no laughs either.

"Do Re Mi" opens with a parody chorus number in a nightclub which, by an unfunny coincidence, is how "Pal Joey" opened. Almost immediately, Nancy Walker starts singing a song, "Waiting, Waiting," which sounds like a bad imitation of "Adelaide's Lament" in "Guys and Dolls." A few minutes later, the scene was a drugstore with a jukebox which came straight out of "West Side Story." Later, there was an audition scene that came out of "Say, Darling." Later the lovers meet and fall in love at first glance just like "West Side Story.

There are innumerable tidbits which don't remind you of anything that specific but seem to have been shipped over intact from Cain's warehouse. Years ago, I promulgated a law that said you could tell how bad a musical was by how many times the chorus yelled "Hooray." This law fell into discard because hoorays were abandoned. But this quaint custom has been revived in "Do Re Mi." The chorus incessantly yells hooray.

Then there is a song called "It's Legitimate" in which Mr. Silvers and three other men march straight up and down, their arms swinging smartly at their sides, great confident smiles on their faces, and yelling so loud that you could swear it must be a marvellous lyric because no one would yell a lyric that confidently unless it were. Except that it isn't.

And finally, there comes a time -mercifully the show is almost over-when Mr. Silvers faces the audience and delivers a recitative as the orchestra writhes in agony in the pit. Well, sir, have you ever seen Ted Lewis talk about the heartbreak of old Broadway? Or Sophie Tucker about the pangs of motherhood? It was like that only more mawkish.

I can't let you go away thinking there's nothing good about "Do Re Mi." "Cry Like the Wind" is a lovely song. "Make Someone Happy" is a good song. Once in awhile Phil Silvers, who may be the funniest man alive, breaks loose as he did in a number called "The Late, Late Show" which is the only decent show number. again in "V. I. P.," again when he was telling an orchestra how to comport itself. But these were awfully occasional gleams. In the four years Silvers was on the air as Sgt. Bilko I never saw him do a script anywhere near this bad.

And television is free. Adolph Green and Betty Comden came to public notice making fun of musicals like this. Now they're committing them. What really bothers me is that it is almost considered subversive to complain. There, of course, have always been the insiders and the great unwashed which means the rest of the world. But always before, the inside mob had better taste than the populace, demanded more, and was quicker to complain. Now, it seems to me, it's the other way around. (Copyright, 1961, New York Herald Tribune Inc.)

Associated Press Sports Writer PITTSBURGH (AP)-The University of Oklahoma Monday night was restored to the good graces of the National Collegiate Athletic Association and the Sooners can again compete in bowl games and NCAA-controlled foot ball telecasts.

the cases of North Carolina and Arizona.

Others Restored

Oklahoma was the third school removed from probation Monday. Earlier, Tulsa and Southern California also were restored to full rights and privileges of the NCAA.

The NCAA council, which lifted the year-old, indefinite probation from Oklahoma, planned another brief meeting Monday night and an early session Tuesday before disposing of the investigation into basketball recruiting at North Carolina and football recruiting at was expectable before Tuesday. In the case of Oklahoma, the powerful 18-man council said it had received access to the books of a football recruiting fund available to the Sooners in the period 1952-54. The council said the records show no athletes currently participating in Oklahoma sports are in any way involved with that recruiting fund.

Algonquin Cites Lack Of Traffic

Algonquin Airways has notified the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce that it is discontinuing its morning round trip between Cumberland and Washington.

The notice was sent to Robert C. Petersen, manager of the Chamber, from T. J. Whelan, president of the firm which started scheduled plane service here early in November.

Mr. Whelan said that, "because of the almost complete lack of traffic we have been compelled to discontinue the morning round

"We will attempt, at least a while longer," he said, "to continue the afternoon flight but with some changes that are absolutely necessary," adding:

Schedule Changed "Instead of using the DeHavilland Doves on all flights we will let the traffic determine which plane is to be used. In other words if we have one to four passengers, we will use our smaller planes and six or more we will use the Doves. This is a decision of pure economic neces-

"In addition we will revert to our earlier afternoon schedule. We will leave Washington at 3 p. m., arrive in Cumberland at 3:45 p. m., leave Cumberland at 4 p. m., arrive in Washington National at 4:45 p. m.

He said the firm has had to that John Nash, operator of the Cumberland Municipal Airport, has agreed to handle reservations.

'U. S. Carrier Stirs New Kennedy Sets Cuban Invasion Charge High Ideals

Navy Accused Of Mining Bay At Guantanamo

HAVANA (AP)-The U. S. aircraft carrier Franklin D. Roosevelt sailed into Guantanamo Bay Monday, setting off new Cuban charges of imminent invasion from the north. A high official said all Cuba is under the equivalent of martial law.

The semiofficial newspaper Revolucion accused the United States of mining Guantanamo Bay, site of the big U.S. base in eastern Cuba. It said also that large quantities of medicine were being unloaded at the base.

Despite denials from U. S. officials at Guantanamo-last U.S. foothold in Cuba-of any aggressive intent, Prime Minister Fidel Castro's radios and newspapers kept up the invasion warnings of the past 10 days.

Long Planned, U.S. Says

State Battles To Preserve Segregation

Four-Step Plan Readied To Thwart Entry Of Negroes

ATLANTA (AP) - The University of Georgia will be closed in the morning with its operating funds cut off, the Associated Press learned Monday night.

An unimpeachable source said Gov. Ernest Vandiver and other state leaders would announce later Monday night a four-step plan in the attempt to preserve segregation at the university, where two Negro students have been ordered admitted.

Under this plan, the university would be closed Tuesday morning. Students at the school would be given a holiday for the rest of the week. The legislature would be asked to repeal the section of the 1956 Appropriations Act which forbids expenditures at schools ordered integrated. And, Atty. Gen. Eugene Cook will fly to Washington Tuesday to ask Associate Justice Hugo L. Black of the U. S. Supreme Court to overrule Judge Elbert Tuttle of the 5th District Court of Appeals in Atlanta.

Tuttle had reversed a lower court which had granted the state a stay in the order for immediate admittance of the two Negroes. Vandiver and other high state officials huddled in the Governor's Mansion late Monday night.

Busy mother of three finds telephone gives 21 extra hours in two weeks...saves $1738 and 200 miles of traveling

Mrs. H. Richard Duden of Annapolis recently kept a two-week record of all her family's telephone calls. For each call she also estimated any expense, time and traveling that were saved by being able to telephone.

> At the end of two weeks, her tally showed that the telephone had given them almost a full day of extra time, and had saved far the cost of their telephone service.

Whether it was a call to summon a washer repairman or rounding up the youngsters, the phone made busy days easier.

Mrs. Duden found, too, that some calls provide pleasure and peace of mind that can't be measured in time or money saved. For instance, her husband who is an insurance representative and foot-ness trip to Florida. His Long Distance call to the family went into a "special" category of her telephone diary.

Perhaps you might like to keep a diary to see what your telephone does. We think you'd find, too, that your telephone saves much more in time, trouble and expense -than the cost of having it.

"More life insurance?

"How can I afford it?" you ask. Until now you probably couldn't. That's why we at Nationwide recently streamlined our entire life insurance portfolio. Today you can buy more and pay less for the protection you need. Here's how:

...you're kidding!"

1. We now offer "quantity discount" rates. Buy more than $4,000 of Nationwide life insurance and your cost per thousand dollars is reduced.

2. We've streamlined our dividend structure. (This also helps lower your premium.) And you now earn cash values sooner than usual.

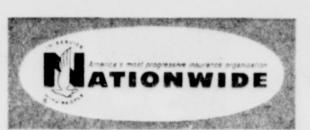

3. There's a plan for every need and budget. Example: Our MODIFIED 3 TO 10 PLAN gives sharply reduced premiums to young fathers during the first ten "getting started" years. Is The Consumer Really Growing Up?

Since the end of World War II America has been a very prosperous nation. Oddly, this prosperity is now making it difficult for industry to keep on producing at the rate that is behind the prosperity.

The American consumer is growing up; he (or she) has matured considerably in the last 15 years. This is the conclusion Business Week magazine comes to as a result of a sort of public pulse-taking. It views this maturity as a challenge to industry - the biggest challenge industry has ever faced.

The American consumer, it seems, now knows what he wants. He is able to see that there are things which properly come ahead of material possessions. He wants service on what he buys and he wants quality. And above all, he is more concerned with expressing his own individuality (especially to himself) than with keeping up with the Joneses.

And when he does buy, he knows much better what he is looking for than he did 15

What does all this portend? Among other things, it may mean that there will be fewer suburban developments of street after street of identical houses that have done much to give Suburbia a bad name. The home buyer will be looking for something more distinctive.

It may mean that the hard sell is on the way out. When an advertiser is convinced that his advertising isn't bringing in the customers, he'll cut out that line and try another. The evidence is mounting that American consumers are looking harder and harder at advertising products-and not believing the claims that are being made for some of them.

The challenge to industry of all this is to grow up right along with the consumer. If industry can provide maturity and responsibility, it will have no trouble in the years ahead.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

ment was until recently William A. Wieland who has been identified as the Arthur William Montenegro for whom I have been looking in the record. This was not Cuba, the Washington government announced by the State Department which has full responsibility in the matter, but the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee has been studying the question of Wieland's conduct and purposes.

There are three men who have the name Montenegro and this produces some confusion. Therefore, it is necessary to say that the Arthur William Montenegro who is being discussed is William Wieland and that he comes by both names quite properly; the Wieland name being his at birth, the Montenegro name coming later when his mother married a second hus-

So we need not get too excited about the use of two names, but we are justified in wondering why this man was entrusted with our Cuban affairs and if the Senate Committee does the job thoroughly, we may find out how men are recruited into the State Department and how they are promoted. We may discover what are the qualifications for being a deskman who can by the flick of a ballpoint pen get the United States into the mess which is now our Cuban situation.

The same thing happened with regard to Communist China in the years 1945, 1946 and 1947 when Alger Hiss and Owen Lattimore and the Institute of Pacific Relations were manufacturing American policy which lost us a continent and gained for us our most pernicious enemy. It might have been otherwise, had the policy of our government not been influenced so positively by men whose interest was to support Soviet Russia rather than the United States, although they were American citizens. It took a long time for Americans to overcome the false propaganda let loose in this country that these Communists were only agrarian reformers.

Dean Rusk, who is to be Secretary of State in the Kennedy Administration, speaking on May 18, 1951,

"It is not my purpose, in these few moments this evening, to go into specific elements of our own national policy in the present situation. But we can tell our friends in China that the United States will not acquiesce in the degradation which is being forced upon them. We do not recognize the authorities in Peiping for what they pretend to be. The Peiping regime may be a colonial Russian government-a Slavic Manchukuo on a larger scale. It is not the Government of China. It does not pass the first test. It is not Chinese.

"It is not entitled to speak for China in the community of nations. It is entitled only to the fruits of its own conduct-the fruits of aggression upon which it is now willfully, openly and senselessly embarked."

This is true but it took too many years to be said officially and when it was said the mischief had already been done. Similarly, in the Cuban situation, we have come to realize that we have taken more than we can bear, but why did we need to take it at all? Was it because William Wieland was calling the turns? Was it because Roy Rubottom was diffident? Was it because the Fifth Floor of the State Department, where the great men sit, never knows what goes on in that sprawling building until it is too late to do anything but make ready for war or appeasement?

The Senate Internal Security Subcommittee ought to examine this situation to discover not an individual whose judgment was bad or whose conduct was vicious, but a pattern of operations which makes it possible for incompetent and indecent persons to become associated with the State Department and to rise to positions where they can commit the United States to a policy. The Cuban situation ought to be studied from the standpoint that it is an altogether unnecessary advantage for Soviet Russia which might have been averted had the control of American policy been where it should be under our Constitution, in the hands of the President of the United States, not of a deskman in the

But the action is not merely the assertion by this country of its opposition to Communist meddling in Cuba. It is a reaffirmation of the principle that a government which fails to discharge its obligations under international lawprotecting the lives and property of foreigners-is not entitled to diplomatic recognition.

It isn't just a matter of what territory a dictatorship controls, but whether it honors international law. The Peiping regime, for instance, controls all of mainland China, just as Castro controls all of Cuba, but has been guilty of aggression in Korea. The case is even stronger for a break in diplomatic relations with the Moscow government, which has not only violated international law repeatedly but has established by force a new "colonialism" among the nations of Eastern Europe. Forgotten About Lyndon Johnson

Senators Remember Things They'd

they talk, the more they rememlot of good things for his country. He has also done some things he would like to forget. During and

Here are some of them: UNFORGOTTEN EVENT NO. 1-Romance with Governor Shivers-After Gov. Allen Shivers of Texas knifed Adlai Stevenson in 1952. Speaker Sam Rayburn vowed never to trust him again, refused to make peace with Shivers at a Texas breakfast arranged by Johnson to bring Shivers back into the good graces of Texas Congressmen.

In secret meeting after meeting Johnson romanced the Dixiecrat governor, proposed all sorts of compromises. Mr. Sam meanwhile kept alooi. In the end, Shivers kicked Johnson in the political teeth, bucked the Democrats again in 1956, raised money for Nixon, and tried to defeat both Kennedy and Johnson in 1960. Sam Rayburn was right, but he couldn't make his protege Lyndon see it

UNFORGOTTEN EVENT NO. 2-Sen. Joe McCarthy-On January 1, 1953 a special Senate investigating committee headed by Sen. Carl Hayden of Arizona and Tom Hennings of Missouri brought in a shocking report on Joe Mc-Carthy. They photostated the amazing bank accounts and deposit slips showing how McCarthy had collected thousands of dollars supposedly to fight Communism, used the money to speculate in the commodity market for his own personal gain

It was one of the most devastating and conclusive reports ever made on a U.S. Senator.

Accordingly, some Senators, including Margaret Chase Smith of Maine, Flanders of Vermont, Fulbright of Arkansas. Ives of New York. Hennings and Hayden, wanted to ask McCarthy to stand aside and not take his Senate seat until all Senators had studied the record. They tried to get support from their new Senate leader. Lyndon Johnson. But their new Senate leader ran like a scared rabbit.

For two whole years Lyndon waited-during which McCarthy crucified people inside and outside government, during which he set the U.S. missile program back for months by scaring key scientists out of government. Finally after Joe stubbed his toe in the Army-McCarthy hearings and had lost popularity, Johnson moved in. By that time it was

1956 Johnson masterminded a drive to pass a natural gas bill giving his friends, the Texas gas and oil men, special exemption from regulation by the Federal Power Commission. They had contributed heavily to his campaign. He made no secret that he was out to help them. His former assistant, John Connally, currently nominated to be Secretary of the Navy, was chief lobbyist for the oil-gas companies, With Johnson's powerful pushing, Connally did a masterful job. The gas bill passed.

But Elmer Patman, lobbyist for Superior Oil, with whom Connally worked, financed a $2,500 bribe offer to Sen. Francis Case of South Dakota. When Case revealed the offer on the Senate floor, Connally sat white-faced in his hotel room in the Mayflower all day. Though he masterminded the lobby, he was never called as a witness in the investigation of the gas lobby that followed. Lyndon abruptly removed the investigation from anti-gas Senators Hennings (Mo.) and Gore (Tenn.), placed it in the hands of Arkansas' McClellan whose law firm in Little Rock then represented Standard Oil of N. J., Seaboard Oil, Tidewater Associated Oil, and Carter Oil.

These are some of the forgotten events which come crowding back to Senators' memories as they discuss the rules of the Senate and the demand that Lyndon Johnson continue to preside over Senate caucuses at the same time Le serves as Vice President of the United States.

Note-real factor behind the present debate on who shall control the Senate is oil. This inside story will be told in an early column.

The Hip & The Slobs

By John Crosby

There's only one thing wrong with the new Phil Silvers musical comedy "Do Re Mi." It isn't any good. But apart from that After all, it's got lyrics by Adolph Green and Betty Comden. It's got a score by Jules Styne. It's got a book by Garson Kanin who directed it. It's got Mr. Silvers and Nancy Walker. It's had tons of money spent on it by David Merrick. And in addition to all that, you want it to be good, too? Whaddayou - a Communist or I saw "Do Re Mi" about a week after it opened and the audience was a mixture of the hip crowd, who call Julie and Betty and Adolph by their first names, and the slobs. The hip crowd wandered around with bright smiles on their faces saying, "Isn't this fun?" with varying degrees of success. The slobs-guys who simply spent $8.60 and expected something in return-looked stunned. My companion encountered a shipboard friend, a lady from New Jersey, a representative of the populace, those fools: "Isn't this awful?" she whispered. But I noticed she whispered. The populace has been thoroughly cowed in regard to shooting off its mouth about Broadway shows. Not so cowed, though, that many of them didn't rush up the aisles and tumble down from the balcony to get out of the theater even before the curtain went down.

Now, there are two kinds of musicals. There are the serious Rodgers and Hammerstein musicals with lovely music, story, and characterization but without a laugh in them. Then there's the old-fashioned rowdy kind with only rudimentary efforts at character and story but lots of laughs. This is the second kind except it has practically no laughs either.

"Do Re Mi" opens with a parody chorus number in a nightclub which, by an unfunny coincidence, is how "Pal Joey" opened. Almost immediately, Nancy Walker starts singing a song. "Waiting, Waiting," which sounds like a bad imitation of "Adelaide's Lament" in "Guys and Dolls." A few minutes later, the scene was a drugstore with a jukebox which came straight out of "West Side Story." Later, there was an audition scene that came out of "Say, Darling." Later the lovers meet and fall in love at first glance just like "West Side Story. There are innumerable tidbits which don't remind you of anything that specific but seem to have been shipped over intact from Cain's warehouse. Years ago. I promulgated a law that said you could tell how bad a musical was by how many times the chorus yelled "Hooray." This law fell into discard because tinent to the grevention of lisease will hoorays were abandoned. But this

Then there is a song called "It's Legitimate" in which Mr. Silvers and three other men march straight up and down, their arms swinging smartly at their sides, great confident smiles on their faces, and yelling so loud that you could swear it must be a marvellous lyric because no one would yell a lyric that confidently unless it were. Except that it isn't. It's awful.

And finally, there comes a time -mercifully the show is almost over-when Mr. Silvers faces the audience and delivers a recitative as the orchestra writhes in agony in the pit. Well, sir, have you ever seen Ted Lewis talk about the heartbreak of old Broadway? Or Sophie Tucker about the pangs of motherhood? It was like that only more mawkish.

I can't let you go away thinking there's nothing good about "Do Re Mi." "Cry Like the Wind" is a lovely song. "Make Someone Happy" is a good song. Once in awhile Phil Silvers, who may be the funniest man alive, breaks loose as he did in a number called "The Late, Late Show" which is the only decent show number, again in "V. I. P.," again when he was telling an orchestra how to comport itself. But these were awfully occasional gleams. In the four years Silvers was on the air as Sgt. Bilko I never saw him do a script anywhere near this bad. And television is free.

Adolph Green and Betty Comden came to public notice making fun of musicals like this. Now they're committing them. What really bothers me is that it is almost considered subversive to complain. There, of course, have always been the insiders and the great unwashed which means the rest of the world. But always before, the inside mob had better taste than the populace, demanded more, and was quicker to complain. Now, it seems to me, it's the other way around

Air Service Drops Morning Flights Here

Algonquin Cites Lack Of Traffic

Algonquin Airways has notified the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce that it is discontinuing its morning round trip between Cumberland and Washington.

The notice was sent to Robert C. Petersen, manager of the Chamber, from T. J. Whelan. president of the firm which started scheduled plane service here early in November

Mr. Whelan said that, "because of the almost complete lack of traffic we have been compelled to discontinue the morning round

"We will attempt, at least a while longer," he said, "to continue the afternoon flight but with some changes that are absolutely necessary," adding: Schedule Changed

"Instead of using the DeHavil land Doves on all flights we will let the traffic determine which plane is to be used. In other words if we have one to four passengers, we will use our smaller planes and six or more we will use the Doves. This is a decision of pure economic neces-

"In addition we will revert to our earlier afternoon schedule. We will leave Washington at 3 p. m., arrive in Cumberland at 3:45 p. m., leave Cumberland at 4 p. m., arrive in Washington

He said the firm has had to drop its ticket agent here and that John Nash, operator of the Cumberland Municipal Airport, has agreed to handle reservations

Mr. Whelan assured Mr. Petersen the firm is "very reluctant" to give up the service completely and is sorry it had to make the
